Creation of web application to interconnect medical laboratories

Rootstack helped Spivey with a team of expert engineers working on creating a web application for medical laboratories.